POETRY.

MY LIFE IS LIKE THE SUMMER ROSE.

My life is like the summer rose,
That opens to the morning sky,
But ere the shades of evening close,
Is scattered on the ground to die.

But on that rose's humble bed,
The sweetest dew of night are shed
As if she wept such woe to see,
But none shall weep a tear for me.

My life is like the autumn leaf,
That tumbles in the moon's pale ray;
It holds it frail—its state is brief—
Restless and soon to pass away.

Yet ere that leaf shall fall and fade,
The parent tree shall mourn its shade,
The winds bewail the leafless tree,
But none shall breathe a sigh for me.

My life is like the print whose feet
Have left on Tempe's desert strand,
Soon as the rising tide shall beat,
This track will vanish from the sand.

Yet, as of grieving to efface
All vestige of the human race,
On that lone shore loud moans the sea,
But none shall be lament for me.

From the New York American.

SONNET.—TO BIANCA.

On seeing Mrs. Drake's representation of the part.

Lady: in all the soft and sunny clime

The glorious land, so oft the poet's theme,
Where beauty scorns the imperious touch of time,
The bard had failed his fancy's steaming dream,
To shrine in lovelier form. That ardent eye,

With all the soul of fondness in its beam—
That graceful form—that brow so pure and bright—

Named by Italia's brightest suns might seem :

And lo ! she comes, turned pale by sorrow's high,

And frenzy flings the glance with love once bright,

Thou art in desolation still as fair,

As war's fierce storm has left Italia's shore,

Lovely—though smiling in its peace no more. D. G.

A Curious Circumstance.—A story went the rounds a short time since of a lady having been in the habit of frequenting the Gambling Hells at the west end of the town in disguise, and who it is said lost £1500. We then doubted the truth of this matter, and still doubt the amount of the alleged loss; but an adventure recently occurred, which tends to confirm the belief that the fair sex do occasionally and on the sly, indulge in the baneful passion of Gambling. For some time past, a man of youthful appearance, wearing mustachios, was observed to be an occasional visitor to a well known house, we have heard, 13 Park place, St. James, where he played with various success, to a moderate stake. At length, on a night last week, he tendered a check for fifty pounds to the banker, and in an under tone, requested counters. It has been remarked that he scarcely ever spoke, but in a similar subdued manner. As he was recognized and believed to be respectable, his request was at once complied with, and for a time, fortune seemed to crown his speculations.

At last, however, luck having turned, he lost all! His agitation had been gradually increasing, and on losing his last counter, he dropped on the floor. He was immediately carried into a private apartment where every humane attention was paid to him, and proper restoratives applied, but he relapsed from one fit to another, and at last, on unbuttoning his collar and throwing open his vest, the man proved to be a woman! A medical gentleman was sent for, and at last comparative self-possession was gained. Consciousness, however only increased the agitation of the patient, who recognised in the medical attendant a friend of both her own and her husband, for she was a married woman. An eclaircissement took place, and it is due to state that the owner of the establishment at once commissioners the situation of the unhappy woman, and without a moment's hesitation returned the check, which, it is painful to add, was subsequently admitted to be signed with the name of her husband. The lesson was a severe one, and it is hoped will have its proper effect—London paper.

Romance in Real Life.—There has lately returned to Paris, a Lieutenant of the French army, who was taken prisoner in the disastrous campaign undertaken by Napoleon against Russia. He was sent into Siberia, and during twenty years of his captivity never found a single opportunity of making any communication of his existence to his family, who believed him to be dead. Consequently, on presenting himself, his father and mother both rejected him as an imposter; for in addition to the changes effected by time and suffering, he had several scars on his face, which was still further disfigured by a false nose made of metal. A peculiar mark on the left arm, however, being recognized by the mother, fully identified him, and secured him acknowledgement and the re-investment of his property, the possession of which had been delivered over to his relations upon the presumption of his death. His wife, during his absence, had taken to herself another husband, and has perniciously refused to return to his arms. The circumstance is, it is said, afford occupation for the tribunals.—Phil. Gazette.

A British Amazon.—The eccentric Lady Hester Stanhope, so long a resident in the East, on being visited by a recent traveller, and advised to return to her native country, having lost much of her influence over the Turkish Pachas of Syria, from the diminution of her means to bribe them, thus expressed her determination, and described her dangers:—“As to leaving this country your advice is in vain; I never will return to England. I am encompassed by perils; I am no stranger to them; I have suffered shipwreck off the coast of Cyprus; have had the plague here; I have fallen from my horse, near Acre, and been trampled on by him; I have encountered the robbers of the desert, and when my servants quaked, I have galloped amongst them, and forced them to be courteous; and when a band of plunderers were breaking in at my gate, I saluted out amongst them, sword in hand, and after convincing them, that had they been inclined, they could not hurt me, I fed them at my gate, and they behaved like thankful beggars. Here am I destined to remain; that which is written in the Great Book of life who may alter? It is true, I am surrounded by perils; it is true, I am at war with the Prince of the mountains, and the Pasha of Acre; it is very true my enemies are capable of assassination; but if I do perish, my fall shall be a bloody one. I have plenty of arms—good Damascus blades, I use no guns; and while I have an arm to wield a halberd, these barren rocks shall have a banquet of slaughter, before my face looks black in the presence of my enemies.”

A SUPERIOR ARTICLE FOR SHAVING.—A SAPONACIOUS COMPOUND. For sale by MAYNARD & NOYES, 13 Cornhill. M. & N. are happy to say the testimony of many gentlemen in this city and vicinity correspond fully with the following recommendation from Dr. Reese, of New-York.

August 5, 1830. I have used the “Saponaceous Compound” of Mr. Prentiss, and find it more pleasant to the face, than any of the shaving soaps I have ever employed, either foreign or domestic. I have no occasion for warm water, and the operation of shaving has lost with me all its inconvenience, since I availed myself of this useful invention. As a mild emolient, and soothing application to the skin, I highly esteem it, and recommend it to my patients as a medicament in cutaneous diseases. Respectfully yours. D. M. REESE.

STENOGRAPHIC GLIMPSES OF CONGRESS—No. 142.

Washington, May 15th, 1834.—The motion to adjourn Congress on the 16th of June, made by Mr. Eoon, was postponed to this day fortnight, by a vote of 116 to 95. Boon and Burgess had a set-to at compliments.—

I did not hear Burgess' first salutation ; but Boon in reply called his friend a poison old toad ; Tristam then saith unto Ratcliff, he marvelled exceedingly that he should look to the bung while there was any thing running from the tap. The Speaker thought Indiana out of order ; but expressed no opinion of Rhode Island.

For my own part, I think neither of them is a Patronus, Galatas, or a Phil Dormer.—In short, one is the Hon.

Ratcliff Boon, and the other the Hon. Tristam Burgess : for honorable men.—I think the dueling system would cure the complaint of scuril personalities ; and if members refused to fight, Poindexter's "kicking" Resolutions ought to be brought to bear against them ; and they should be kicked by legislative action out of the House. This disgusting and offensive language is uttered, be it remembered, in the presence of Ladies ! And I am indeed repeating a specimen of it, perhaps to be read by ladies—my reason is, that when they see these Hon. gentlemen rise for a speech, they might ask leave of absence. And then I take leave of the subject.

The House are still debating the appropriations.—They will not probably fix a day of adjournment more than a fortnight or three weeks ahead, when they do fix it.

The Senate occupied a great portion of the day on a debate about printing a long Vhig prescription from Wilmington, (Del.) presented by Dr. Naudin. It was an opinion upon matters and things in general, and more especially the Protest. The Dr. discharged his bile upon the Executive and his measures, in the form of a speech ; and thought posterity would be much enlightened by the Vhig Resolutions of Wilmington, and moved to have them printed.

Mr. Forsyth opposed the motion, as a useless expense ; saying that these proceedings related only to a past act of the Senate, concerning which nothing would probably ever be done ; and he thought it a waste of the public money to go to the expense of printing. Mr. Clay thought the document ought to be printed ; because the President, he said had been at the expense of having 40,000 copies of the Protest printed ! What an excellent reason for embezzling the public money in printing folly and nonsense, because an individual at his own proper charge, had been at the expense of defending his character. But even this is false. The 40,000 were printed by subscription ; I know one gentleman who subscribed for 5,000 ; and no man believes that the President paid a dollar for any of them. The opposition rarely found an argument upon any thing but a falsehood. And when Clay made the assertion this morning, about the "40,000," Mr. Forsyth told him he explicitly denied it.

Dr. Chambers came to the rescue, and insisted upon the printing. Mr. Kane moved an amendment to have the Protest printed at the same time ; Dr. Chambers objected, that it was not in order ; the Vice President pronounced it in order ; and the Doctor made demonstrations of an appeal ; Mr. Webster and others told him not to appeal ; the Doctor asked, "why?"—but without hearing their wherewores withdrew his appeal. Mr. Forsyth said he should vote both against the motion and amendment ; Mr. Kane withdrew it ; and the motion to print was carried.

Mr. Clayton took the door, and finished a dull reply to Mr. Wright's speech on the Pension Fund ; Mr. Kane followed him in reply ; when the Vhig candidate, Hon. David Crockett, made his first appearance in the Senate after staring it at Boston, and this dignified body adjourned at 3 o'clock, to grin their congratulations.—

What a posse and what a pack for the next Presidency will the Vhigs have, when they break cover for the next Presidential steeple chase !—Crockett, Calhoun, and Clay ! Webster, it is thought, will not be unknocked, owing to his yelping against the Nullifiers, on the Force Bill chase, after these were earthed.

REIS EFFENDI.

Office Holders.—There has been so much noise made about the "army of office holders," that Van Buren is said to have in his pay, that we have had some curiosity to look into the business. It had been asserted by the opposition prints that Mr. Van Buren has selected quite a respectable little regiment of red bookers out of his own state, New York. This is all fudge.—In the offices and departments at Washington there are employed, as officers and clerks, from the Journal states, two hundred and eighty-eight individuals, who have been selected from the several States in the following proportions :—

Massachusetts	21	Delaware	5
N. Hampshire	10	Virginia	53
Connecticut	10	North Carolina	5
Vermont	1	South Carolina	3
Rhode Island	1	Georgia	3
New York	9	Kentucky	6
New Jersey	15	Tennessee	4
Pennsylvania	42	Ohio	2
Maryland	97

This statement is extracted from an official document of the State Department. New York State contains about one fifth of the whole population of the Union, and yet, out of 208 public officers and clerks, she has only nine.—Cin. Rep.

The opposition prints talk of an army of office-holders of 40,000, now in the party service of the administration. This is put forth with their usual recklessness of truth. We will venture to say that there are not twenty thousand office-holders on the civil list of the government ; there are about ten thousand post-masters, and they comprise more than half, we believe, of all the civil officers of the Union ; and it is a fact susceptible of demonstration, that more than half of all the officers under the National Government, are filled by opponents of the Administration. And as for emoluments, the amount of public money paid to the Editors of the Intelligencer and Telegraph, those organs of the Nationals and Nullifiers, for printing, much of it worse than useless, we have no doubt exceeds the sum paid annually to all the civil officers of the United States in the great city of New York—and exceeds the amount, we believe, paid the civil officers of the United States, in any other State in the union, except New York. This is exclusive of the sums lavished on those establishments by the Bank. But besides this equal amount of public money and official influence which the opposition, though a minority, are permitted to enjoy, by the magnanimity of the majority, they have a source of patronage and influence exclusively their own, vastly greater in amount than all the patronage of the General Government throughout the Union, that is the Bank of the United States. The whole expenses of the United States are less than twenty millions of dollars a year—a large part of which is paid in pensions. The Bank of the United States has more than fifty millions of means, and its loans, to favorite partisans, amount to more than two hundred millions of dollars a year. It has a host of officers at high salaries—its numerous attorneys, in and out of Congress, retained by its immense largesses, its subsidized presses, and its hired Reviews, to propagate its principles and advocate its cause, and its myriads of dependent debtors, its mercenaries and bullies, who pervade society, and who suck up their subsistence through the agency of the Bank, from the hard earnings of the industrious classes. This great fountain of corruption, which is beyond the control of the people, and which defies the authority of the laws, excites no alarm among the opposition.—It is in fact their anchor and hope, their ally and protector, but one of "deadly hostility to the liberties of the people."

The citizens of Boston will be required to vote again this day, on the question of the alteration of the law relating to the mode of choosing the School Committee, &c.

Severe Snow Storm.—We learn by a gentleman, direct from Chelsea, (Vt.) that snow fell in that town on Thursday last, to the depth of 22 inches ; it also fell to an equal depth on the same day in Haverhill, and the stages came in runners.

The Hon. Wm. W. Ellsworth has intimated to the Governor of Connecticut his intention to resign his seat in Congress at the close of the present session.

Wicket.—The Wicket-Players of Litchfield, Conn. and Hartford have agreed to meet and try their expertise at this game, to-morrow, at 10 o'clock, in Bristol.

A certain New York Editor, who makes himself busy with our typographical errors, has found employment suited to his talents.

The Legislature of Connecticut will probably adjourn to-morrow.

Latest from France.—French papers to the 9th ult. have been received at New York. They contain little news of interest. Letters have been received at Paris announcing that the Spanish army in pursuit of Don Carlos had entered Portugal. There have been some disturbances of rather a serious character in Belgium, but not such as to threaten the stability of the government. Under the new arrangement of the Cabinet, Marshal Soult is the only Minister who is a Peer of France. There was a slight disturbance at Nantes on the 30th March, when about 500 people assembled, after a dinner given by the workmen of that town.—Trans.

By a file of Jamaica papers received at this office, we regret to learn that the policy adopted by the English Government, towards her West India Colonies, is likely to prove not only inconvenient, but even tragic in its consequences. The Jamaica Journals speak of the course of the government in the strongest terms of apprehension. It is obvious that though the ideas of March have come, they are not yet over. The promised tranquillity is scarcely to be hoped ; and we fear a dreadful realization of the worst predictions of the slave-holders.—Philad. Intel.

The Richmond Enquirer of the 13th inst. says—"We understand that a document has been found among Mr. Jefferson's papers, bearing directly upon the present times. It is said to be an opinion and Protest, prepared by that distinguished man, during Gen. Washington's administration, exhibiting his views of the relative powers of the Executive and Senate of the United States. It is carefully bound up in a Book, and appears, by an indorsement upon it, to have been revised by him many years afterwards. We learn, that the paper has excited much conversation in the county of Albemarle—and we observe, that the Executor (Thomas Jefferson Randolph, Esq.) has been called on by a correspondent of the Charlottesville Advocate to give it publication. We ourselves have taken the liberty of addressing Mr. Randolph for a copy ; and should be so fortunate as to succeed in our application, we shall lay it as soon as possible before our readers. If Mr. Jefferson should have written such a Protest, it will then become the People to decide between him and the present Senate."

Accidents.—In this town, on Sunday last, a son of Mr. Tobias Brown, aged 16 months, was drowned by falling into a tub of water ;—the same evening, an Irishman fell into the Canal near Cutler's Mills, and was nearly drowned before he was rescued ;—on Monday, a boy by the name of Croley was drowned in attempting to jump across a ditch near the Insane Hospital ; he was seen by an inmate of the hospital, who gave the alarm, which was unheeded until the next morning, when the body was found by direction of the person. He was 10 years old.—Bunker Hill Aurora.

Outrage from Fast Driving.—On Saturday afternoon a large number of children were at play in Sister street, a cross street leading from Berry to Williams street, which is just wide enough to admit a carriage, though vehicles so rarely pass that it is much used for a play ground. Two persons, in a chaise, drove furiously up this street, totally regardless of the children, and ran over a child three years old, who was sitting on the curb stone. Another child barely escaped. The thigh bone of the little sufferer was broken, and she was otherwise considerably injured, though it is hoped the wounds will not prove fatal.—Advocate.

Consequences of Furious Driving.—Yesterday morning, a child about 12 years old was run over and severely bruised by one of the Tremont Line of Stage Coaches.—Trans.

Mr. William Comstock, of Sullivan, New Hampshire, gives notice in the public prints that his son James, 26 years of age, mysteriously disappeared on the night of December 31, 1833—and that, having reason to fear that he has been murdered, he will give a reward of $200 for the detection of the assassin, or $50 for satisfactory information that his son is yet living. He requests newspaper publishers throughout the country to notice the circumstance.

Accident.—We understand that on Friday last, THATCHER MAGOUS, Esq. of Medford, well known as an enterprising ship builder, while on board a vessel building at his yard in Medford, fell down the hatchway into the lower hold, and was so much injured as to cause his death.—Mer. Jour.

The Cholera had broken out among the Cherokee emigrants who had passed through Little Rock, under the command of Lieut. Harris, of the U. S. A., who were on their way to the new grounds allotted to them. The measles had also raged violently among them and a number had died.

Fire.—We regret to learn, that Mr. Ingerson's extensive distillery establishment, at the lower Meadows, Charleston, New Hampshire, was entirely destroyed by fire, last Friday evening. We have not learned the particulars further than the property was insured to the amount of 6000 dollars.—Springfield (Vt.) Rec.

Vessel Burnt.—The whale ship Catherine, Goodrich, of this port, took fire off Woahoo, 29th November, and was entirely consumed—crew saved. She had 700 barrels oil on board.—Salem Com. Adv.

Unfortunate Accident.—A little daughter of Samuel Colby, of Parma, was killed by being run over by a stage while in front of her father's house.

Benjamin F. Seaborn, convicted of setting fire to the city of Raleigh, U. C. in 1832, whose case was carried before the Supreme Court of this state, has been sentenced for execution on Friday, 30th of May.

Last Snow Storm.—At Saratoga on Thursday a heavy fall of snow was experienced ; the ground was covered to the depth of eight inches ; sleighs were in requisition.

Stone, author of Metamora, has completed a new tragedy.

POLICE COURT.

Martin McDonald and John Collins, were severely charged with an assault on Michael and John Carey, brothers. It appeared that the antagonist parties met, on Saturday night, at a house, in Ann street, where such persons most do congregate, when the following friendly conversation took place between Martin and Michael, at least so swore Michael :—

Martin.—It's a chap something the likes o' ye, but mayhap ye're not the man at all, that got me turned out of my implant last summer—ye're too tight a boy to be doing such a nasty trick, perhaps not ! eh, Mike ?

Michael.—Indade I could say that I'm the lad, that had good rason for what I did.

Martin.—Good rason ! Is it a smarter one ye have among ye, than myself, bad health to the woman that fed ye upon the scent of a red herring, in a chop-cellier, for the want of a tester to buy one.

Michael.—There are many smarter boys with us, myself along wid 'em, at your service.

Martin.—Bad luck t' ye, for a backsliding liar, that whispers poison under the cabbage-lafe ; I'll see you, pretty well d—d, before I'll stand that from any man, Mr. Mike.

Michael.—There are many smarter boys with us, myself along wid 'em, at your service.
